Example of a Meetup Agenda Flow

Setup: circle discussion or formal classroom style

1. Introduction to RXC and the ideas

20 min presentation of a concept from Radical Markets by the meetup organizers or someone from RXC foundation if available (if a paper is available on the subject, it can be sent to the participants ahead of time for those who want to read it before the meetup)

2. Application or Deeper Dive in Small Groups (40 min)

For the doers: discussion of a concrete project or company directly using the concept presented (best to invite someone from the company to present) or of a concrete, local problem that could be fixed with this mechanism

3. Presentation of the Meetup Discussions / Conclusions to the Group (15 min)

Each subgroup presents some subjects discussed so that the whole group can be aware of the discussions and continue after the meetup

4. Conclusion by the meetup organizer (15 min)

Make sure to include follow up action items + collect email addresses of people who want to be involved + announce the next meetup and the potential subject (15 min)

5. Networking and drinks (optional) (30 min)

4. Game night with COST Monopoly: see here

Recommended Frequency

It depends on your availability. We recommend once a month or once every two months to keep people engaged.

Between meetups, here are a few ideas to keep people engaged and connect them together:

- Get people's emails at each meetup and send a follow up / thank you email the day after the meetup
- Make sure to follow up with the people who expressed interest in participating in RXC (more to come on this subject)
- Invite the most interested participants to continue chatting on Slack or other local messaging platform
